CAMTASIA – is the file size too big?

If you are having download issues with your files, the thing that will affect it most is the "Quality Slider". In the Custom Production settings, it is set by default to 50% (as in the screen shot above), but you can lower that to about 40% if you need to save on file size.

Also, if you don't have a lot of high-motion content in your video, you can set the frame rate to 15fps and it won't affect the quality at all!

Being influential is not about what we learn to do to others but what we learn to be for others—consistently becoming the kind of person others want to follow.
